Mystic

By Naomi

I lay in a shallow
pool of tenderness
I stare at a blue sky
full of possibilities
As the day wears on the sun begins to fade Casting a hue of passionate orange &
pink embers

Watching the transformation from innocence to sin
The Grey shadows of darkness presents a jeweled sky
Numb from the pool of tenderness, I
embrace my mystic
night Slowly writhing in the breath of his
atmosphere

My lungs fill with the intensity of desire A need for the mystic to expose his depth
To place a chilled
kiss of emptiness
upon my lips
I lay in his shallow
pool of tenderness
